

“Housing List”

December 2011

Radiation Medicine Department
Doreen Ocegüera (909) 558-4000 x 87756
dmocegüera@llu.edu

Many types of housing are available on a rental basis, offering special short term rates to Loma Linda University Medical Center (LLUMC) patients and families.

We have located apartments, houses, cottages, motels, RV parks, and private rooms to fit most needs, and price ranges. Landlords accept a small security deposit, and work with your schedule.

Some housing options are within walking distance of the Medical Center. Some are several miles away and require a car (as will your visits to southern California’s amazing beaches, lakes, cities, deserts, mountains, parks, museums, plays, symphonies, zoos, festivals, theme parks, studios, county fairs).

We encourage you not to try and live in a hotel room for two months, though suite arrangements may work for you. You need “pacing room”, and many apartments cost less. Likewise, if you would not be comfortable living in a room in someone’s home, don’t. But if you are, the price is the most reasonable, except for perhaps the more enjoyable, an RV park.

If you plan to have members of the family with you, consider a two-bedroom arrangement rather than one. Most things that are good and bad at home can be good and bad here too, so plan accordingly. The privacy will be worth it.

Be honest about what you need and want in your living arrangements. For example, some patients feel better Working during treatment. They rent an extra bedroom for an office. Others come here with rest and recovery on their minds, and enjoy life at whatever level their diagnoses allow

So, rent according to your needs, desires and what you can afford, with happiness in mind. It makes perfect sense your treatment will be easier, even enjoyable, if you make your stay comfortable and satisfying.

We update and inspect lodgings periodically, but can’t guarantee this information, nor how you will “fit” into each one. That’s for you to decide.

Hotels, Motels and Others with Daily Rates

When you come for your initial consultation, you will need lodging for one or two nights. Loma Linda is surrounded by good hotels and motels. All will welcome you, and most with special rates. First try your own discount plans (AAA, AARP, etc.) Ask if they offer “specials” which may save you even more. It won’t hurt to ask. Following are nearby places that promise to treat you right at decent rates:

Hotels, Motels and Others with Daily Rates

One difficulty of prolonged treatment is the expense of maintaining a second household. To help, we have negotiated rates with a variety of facilities. Those listed are furnished including items from high speed internet, utilities paid, pots and pans to linens... Call around and reserve what YOU believe will make your stay in southern California most comfortable. Being comfortable is a good first step to successful treatment. First, a few notes about the towns in which we have found places for your stay.

LOMA LINDA

Spanish for "pretty hill"

A place of healing since the 19th century, this unique small city has a rural flavor. Much of the populations of 21,000 are students, faculty, and health professionals who work at the town's hospitals and university. Loma Linda's population includes many Seventh-day Adventists, and the entire city shares Adventist values. It is a place where tranquility is disturbed only by an occasional ambulance, or an emergency helicopter landing on the hospital roof.

COLTON

Founded and built by the railroad, 19th century. Just two miles west of LLUMC, although largely industrial now, Colton still has a neat "old California" downtown, reasonably priced modern apartments, restaurants and shopping centers. A transportation hub, two freeways cross in Colton. The I-10 goes west to Santa Monica and east to Phoenix. The I-215 goes north to Las Vegas and south to San Diego.

REDLANDS

Cultural and restaurant center of the region, where 19th century 'snow birds' built still-lovely Victorian mansions. This historic town got its name from the red, iron-rich soil. By the 1880's it was becoming the navel orange capital of the world. The Redlands navel orange remains the standard, and still boasts thousands of acres of groves. With its famous University, Symphony, Redlands Bowl, theater groups, museums, historic buildings, stores, restaurants, art, the oldest summer music festival in the nation, international bicycle race, library, and turn of the century homes . . . tiny Redlands, with Riverside, is the cultural center of the region. A great small town, as reflected in the price of rentals.

SAN BERNARDINO

Franciscan Mission to Mormon stake to modern city. San Bernardino is the largest county in the nation, and full of things to do, including golf, the historic California Theater in which Will Rogers gave his last performance, Pacific Symphony directed by Carlos Ponti Jr., shopping malls, restaurants, spas, mountain lakes and ski resorts. The city is probably most famous for the old Norton Air Force Base, and the National Orange Show facility . . . which is near the new Mariners minor league baseball stadium, just minutes away.
